

Harry A. Mullen

90th Infantry Division
358th Infantry Regiment, Company D

Harry A. Mullen was born in Montgomery County, Iowa on 31 July 1917 on the family farm where he lived until he entered the service on 24 March 1942 at Ft. Des Moines, Iowa.

He was then assigned to Co. "D", 358th Inf, 90th Div., at Camp Barkeley, near Abilene, Texas.

He left with the 90th Division from Ft. Dix, New Jersey, arriving overseas on Easter Sunday, April 9, 1944.

His unit went to Normandy on D-Day+2. He participated in the Campaigns in the Rhineland, Ardennes, Normandy and North France, all with the 90th Division.

He did occupational duty in Czechoslovakia. Later he was assigned to Headquarters Service Troop, 23rd Cavalry Recon. Squadron in the European Theatre for his return to the states.
